When you learn how to leverage the very real psychology of priming, you'll experience an incredible shift in the quality of your thoughts and emotions. When you prime your mind to experience more positivity, you'll not only find more fulfillment in the everyday, but you'll also become better at reaching your goals. - Tony Robbins

CREATE YOUR PERSONAL PRIMING RITUAL

We recommend that you create a personal ritual that you go through every morning to set a positive mindset and maintain peak state throughout the day.

ORGANIZE YOUR DAY WITH US

☐ Wake Up Early

Try to program your body to wake up between 4-5 AM. Although you may need to set an alarm at first, try to learn to wake up naturally to make sure your body is fully rested.

☐ Read

Now that your body has woken up and your mind is in a receptive state, it is time to read so you can strengthen your mindset.

☐ 1 Hour of Growth Work

Now that you are primed and in peak state and in an uninterrupted environment, it is time for you to work on a focused activity to bring you closer to your goals and make sure to review your goals every day before you get started!

Set a timer for 59 minutes and GO! Use this time to unleash your ideas and take massive action.

☐ Fuel Your Body

You need to learn to eat for success as well as schedule fitness into your weekly regime. Plan your meals and track them every day! Write everything down and weigh yourself every morning.

☐ Take Your Vitamins

Make sure to take your vitamins every morning to make sure you compensate for any deficits

☐ Cold Shower Therapy

Although it may seem counterintuitive, these showers are actually beneficial for both your mind and your body. For the best benefits, incorporate cold showers into your daily routine. As this takes strength and dedication, Wim Hof advises to gradually build up the duration and intensity.

☐ Dress for Success

Now that you are in peak state and have a Top 2% mindset, it's time to look the part! Choose clothes that make you feel comfortable and ready to seize the day!

☐ Plan your week in advance and leave very little to surprise.

This should include your workouts and physical recreation times, time with family and friends, your down time to rest and recoup, time to review finances and even what and when you will eat! Schedule it in your planner for a particular time, treat it like an appointment and make it happen!
